Here are a few simple tips to use water efficiently outdoors

- Use a broom instead of a hose to clean driveways, sidewalks and patios.
- Use a nozzle on your hose to control water flow while washing your car.
- Check your property for leaks. To determine if you have a leak, turn off all of the water in and around your home and monitor the meter to see if the needle continues to move. If it does, chances are you have a leak on the property.
- Water plants during the early morning, or in the late evening, to avoid daytime heat. This reduces the amount of water lost through evaporation, and also provides water for the plants to help them get through the heat of the day. Or, install a smart irrigation controller, which automatically controls irrigation based on local weather conditions.
